Best setup for extending range

2019/07/12

Hi everyone. thanks in advance.I have a home with a large basement apartment. The modem/router from the cable company is located in the basement shared laundry room in a cabinet with cat5 cables that terminate in the apartments rooms. There is a thick concrete wall that separates the laundry room and the apartment and according to the tenant it is difficult to get a signal at the back of the apartment. What is the best solution? Is there a "wired" solution that utilizes a range extender or a separate router in bridge mode? The tenant says he has an apple wi fi extender plugged in to one of the cat 5 outlets but that makes no sense to me unless there is a device on the modem end? I thought an extender only connects wirelessly and the cat 5 port is for admin.
